

Brendo and Rhianon will do their reconnaissance for the Robertstown Rally in South Australia today after Rhianon flew into Adelaide early this morning.

Brendo is hoping to complete at least two passes of each stage and despite the fact that he contested the event last year, he and Rhianon will write new pacenotes.

“We are continually refining our pacenote system, so we will write new notes for the rally,” Brendo said.

The Robertstown Rally is best known for one of the most amazing spectator points in Australian rallying which is located on the One Big Hill stage. It contains a series of three huge jumps that are taken at well over 100 km/h. The jumps were not included in last year's event, so Brendo is keen to recce the stage and see what lies ahead of him this weekend.

Brendo will drive a RallySchool.com.au Subaru STI in the rally and is looking forward to once again competing on the fast South Australian roads.

“We are planning on doing most of the South Australian Rally Championship rounds this year, so a good points haul from this event will be our goal.”

The event starts tomorrow lunchtime in the tiny South Australian town of Robertstown.
