

Brendan and Rhianon sit in fourth outright in the WRC Academy at Rally Finland at the half way point of Day 2. After moving their way up to second place, a time loss on the final stage of the morning, SS8, due to handling problems, means they are now just two seconds behind third place.

Brendan wasn't happy with the suspension of the car during the morning and will be making some set-up changes during the service break to try and improve the Fiesta's handling. With only a small margin separating second to sixth places, every second will count and with improved handling, Brendan and Rhianon should be able to regain their spot in the top three by day's end.

Friday afternoon's competition includes three stages (repeats of this morning's stages) and the two kilometre Super Special to finish the day.
